Question:
What is Saheb looking for in the garbage dumps? Where is he and where has he come from?

Answer:
Saheb is looking for coins, rupee notes and any other useful objects in the garbage dumps. Saheb and his family have migrated to Seemapuri, a slum area on the outskirts of Delhi, looking for a source of living after they were uprooted from their native village in Dhalis, Bangladesh.

Question:
What explanations does the author offer for the children not wearing footwear?

Answer:
The author comes across many shoeless rag-picker children in her neighbourhood. According to her, one explanation of this habit of remaining barefoot is that it is a tradition among the poor children of this country. However, the author quickly mentions that calling it a tradition could be just a means of justification of the utter destitution.

Question:
Is Saheb happy working at the tea-stall? Explain.

Answer:
Saheb is not really happy working at the tea stall because working for a master meant sacrificing his freedom and his "carefree look". Even though the job at the tea-stall pays him 800 rupees and all his meals, he seems less contented than before. The weight of his master's steel canister seems heavier than his rag-picking plastic bag.
